Things don't turn up in this world
until somebody turns them up.
JAMES A. GARFIELD.

Good Towns Don't Just Happen

The Joys Of Hope

Some time ago we ran across an old volume containing a short discourse by a doctor, which we believe will be inspiring to anyone who should give the average reader a lift. This was Dr. John C. Garfield's "Domestic Medicine," or "Poor Man's Friend." It contains this article on "Hope."

Hope! What a source of human happiness rests on the pleasure of hope. Man cherishes it to his very tomb. Take away from him hope and life itself would be a burden. How wisely has our Heavenly Father blended, in our cup of misery, soft whispers of hope and life itself would be a burden. How wisely has our Heavenly Father blended, in our cup of misery, soft whispers of hope and life itself would be a burden.

JAMES A. GARFIELD was speaking from experience when he said things don't just turn up. He plowed an education out of a log-cabin background and went on to turn up in the White House.

Successful institutions don't just happen along, either. Rather, their success is achieved, in great measure, through determination and well-grounded endeavors.

Your local Chamber of Commerce is such an institution. It reflects the efforts of citizens who have joined in the interest of business and service to the community. And it is their efforts that make your town a good place to live and do business.

You can help your community and yourself to prosperity and growth by helping your local Chamber. It has a place for you.

The Chamber of Commerce has 116 members at the present for 1947. M. E. Alderman, chairman of the membership committee reports.

A matter of general interest to the public and former patrons of the P. J. Upchurch auto machine shop, is that the shop has changed ownership and now in the hands of Willard Collins and Earl Norman of Washington, Ga., was speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Statesboro Rotary Club.

OUT OF THE PAST Part Fact—Part Fancy

By Maude Brannen

The Indians were apt at naming things. Ogeechee means the Old Maid. Beginning as a tiny rivulet in the mountains of our state, the river flows southeast till she finds her destined home in the vast Atlantic. From her source stream, with the ocean, no other river joins her, the only tributaries being creeks. Toward!

On the north side of the river was an Indian trail which was called in later years the Louisville Road. On the south side another trail became the Milledgeville Road.

Old roads are like old houses—they know so many secrets. They have listened to dancing feet and to the slow, solemn steps of the pioneers. It may be that on nights when the moon is full, and the wind rouses through the great trees, that the secrets are being whispered over and over again.

The great oak know too! The Old Road knew the Indians and their silent footsteps; the horses of the first white settlers; the oaken drawn carts; the faint, plaintive songs of the pioneers.

They returned to quarters after the long day's work, were sung in Gullah, their native African tongue. The old road knew that.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

(Editor's Note: The following is the third and last in a series of three columns dealing with the civil rights proposals pending before the 80th Congress.)

AMONG THE CIVIL RIGHTS measures proposed by the Eisenhower Administration is one to authorize the Attorney General of the United States to seek injunctions to restrain persons who "are about to engage in any acts or practices which would give rise to a cause of action."

An adjunct of this proposal is to allow the Attorney General to institute injunctive proceedings against persons thought to be "interfering with the rights of others to vote."

THE OTHER FACETS of the President's fourfold civil rights program are the recommendations for the creation of a Special Civil Rights Division in the Department of Justice and the strengthening of vote laws by authorizing the Attorney General to institute injunctive proceedings against persons thought to be "interfering with the rights of others to vote."

NOT ONLY DOES a proposal presuppose the existence of a problem, but it also indicates making him a glorified nationwide public prosecutor and anticipates the use of the federal government's power to enforce a statute could be enforced without hiring mind readers to advise the Attorney General when

Essentials Of The CD Program

By Max Lockwood

Director, Statesboro and Bulloch County

There are a few essentials which you as a citizen should bear in mind as you consider the CD Program.

1. At least 15,000,000 Americans must be trained in civil defense and every American must learn the facts of survival.

2. Without civil defense your city would be helpless; with civil defense your losses could be cut in half.

3. Your state and local civil defense directors must have your support.

4. Read the official civil defense booklet which are available to you. You can double your chances of survival if you know what to do.

5. Civil defense depends upon you.

B. & P. W. Club Met March 18

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular meeting for March at Mrs. Brynna's Kitchen Monday evening, March 18. The Radio and TV Committee had charge of the program.

Since the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Eloise Ware, was absent due to illness, the co-chairman, Miss Nanette Ellington, presented the program which consisted of a tape recording of the speech delivered by Miss Hazel Palmer, the president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, in Savannah last September during National Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Minnie Lee Johnson expressed the club's regret for the loss of Mrs. Eloise Ware, who is moving to Atlanta where she has accepted other employment. Mrs. Ware's services and her genial personality will be missed. Although the club participated with other civic organizations in honoring Mrs. Ware, a delegation from the club, after the meeting, presented Eloise with a gift.

After the club program Mrs. Minnie Lee Johnson, the club president, presided at a short business session when several matters pertaining to the club were discussed. The club named a nominating committee composed of Miss Penny Allen, chairman, Mrs. Grace Waller, and Mrs. Camille Lanier, to select club officers for
